RAYMOND ROBINS
DISAPPEARS ON WAY TO HOOVER

Prominent Social Worker Not Seen Since Last Saturday

BULLETIN
Chicago, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Mrs. W. Requa Bryant, friend of Col. Raymond Robins for 20 years, today said she saw the missing prohibition and peace worker on a Chicago street yesterday afternoon.

"I am positive the man was Mr. Robins," she said, "I have known him since my childhood when he visited at our home. He appeared distraught and for that reason I didn't speak to him. I didn't know he was missing at that time."

Mrs. Bryant's father, Attorney Harold L. Ickes, said he had talked at length with his daughter and was convinced the man she saw was Robins. Ickes was a lifelong friend of Robins and Theodore Roosevelt in 1912, he said.

Ickes said he was inclined to believe Robins was in Chicago on a secret mission.

TO OFFER NO REWARD

South West Harbor, Me., Sept. 9.—(AP)—No reward or ransom will be offered in the search for Col. Raymond Robins, social worker, whose disappearance caused a widespread search by Department of Justice agents and police today.

Miss Edith Kissack, secretary to Mrs. Robins who is visiting a sister here, said that after the finding of the body of the Lindbergh baby, Col. Robins told his wife, "If I disappear don't offer any reward or pay any ransom."

Mrs. Robins will follow the wishes of her husband, Miss Kissack said.

GOVT AGENTS BUSY

Washington, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Attorney General Mitchell said today special investigators from the Prohibition Bureau had been assigned to hunt for Col. Raymond Robins, social worker and peace advocate, whose disappearance might have been harmed by a gang of bootleggers.

Mitchell reported, however, that nothing had been found that would substantiate such a theory or give a clue to any gang that might be responsible.

Mitchell said so far nothing had been discovered that would draw the Justice Department's Bureau of Investigation into the case.

Anxiety over the whereabouts of Colonel Robins, whose disappearance was disclosed by his failure to show up for his White House appointment Tuesday, was heightened today by President Hoover's concern and fears of violence expressed by Mrs. Robins.

Last Seen Saturday

Her statement in Maine that Robins may have been kidnapped or killed by "Florida bootleggers" spurred officials in both New York, where Robins was last seen Saturday, and in Washington.

Capitol police, however, had no indication of his arrival here.

Dr. Fred B. Smith, a New York friend of the missing man, who also was a noted social economist, talked with the White House after Mrs. Robins' statement and reported the President was "quite worried."

Personally, however, Smith said he felt Mrs. Robins "may be over-anxious." She had told of many threats on her husband's life for his active work in behalf of constitutional prohibition and against liquor violators.

Visited N. Y. Club

Robins was last seen at the City Club in New York at a time fixed by employees at between 4:50 and 5:00 P. M. on Saturday.

He had checked out, leaving the Dodge Hotel in Washington as a "downing" address. This hotel, however, said Robins had made no reservation and had not been there. His baggage was located today in the City Club check room.

In Florida, chief source of the threats mentioned by Mrs. Robins, S. D. Coogler, president of the First National Bank at Brooksville, said Colonel Robins had been expected to arrive yesterday or today but had not. Robins has a Brooksville home and is chairman of the bank's board.

Secret Service Busy

When Robins' disappearance became public knowledge it was learned that federal agents already had been investigating the case quietly. Chief W. H. Moran of the Secret Service, though, would say only that "certain inquiries" without result.

"This concludes our part of the matter unless we are requested to make an investigation," Moran said.

Though no official announcement was forthcoming, a Justice Department investigation was indicated. Clues were few and Mrs. Robins' own inquiries had brought no tangible results.

Robins is 59 years old and a native of Staten Island, New York. He was in the Klondike gold rush in Alaska in 1896 and acquired a fortune enabling him to devote his time to social betterment work. His wife, formerly Miss Margaret

IS BADLY HURT
BY CANNON SHOT

Well Known Dixonite Victim Serious Accident Today

Joseph Crawford, well-known and popular Dixonite, was the victim of a serious accident at his home east of the city at noon today when a small cannon accidentally exploded and tore the flesh off a great part of his right leg. At the hospital this afternoon the attending physician had hopes that Mr. Crawford's life would be saved but there is some uncertainty about saving the leg. Blood transfusions will probably be necessary.

Mr. Crawford had been talking to a visitor and some time after the visitor left members of the family heard the sound of Mr. Crawford's automobile horn, honking insistently, and when they investigated they found him soundless in the horn himself, calling for help.

There was a small cannon, of the type used for Fourth of July salutes, lying on the ground near him. How it happened to explode is not known, but it is probable that the long string that is used to pull the trigger on the gun, which shoots a ten gauge shotgun shell, became entangled with Mr. Crawford's foot. After the explosion he dragged himself up to the side of the car and pressed the horn button for help.

State Policeman Hal Roberts rushed the unfortunate man to the hospital where every effort is being made this afternoon to insure his recovery.

Bruce Campbell's

Curious, He Says

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 9.—(AP)—Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley was today asked by Bruce Campbell, chairman of the Illinois Democratic state managing committee, to say whether he had detailed Major General Ashburn and a government barge, to accompany Len Small and William Hale Thompson "on a political junk" trip on the Illinois, Mississippi and Ohio rivers during the coming week.

Campbell quoted newspaper announcements of the proposed trip in his telegram.

"Please advise whether or not this report is correct," he asked. "It hardly seems possible that you would countenance the use of government property for political purposes on a purely partisan campaign trip. Please answer."

THOMPSON EXPLAINS

Chicago, Sept. 9.—(AP)—William Hale Thompson stated today a boat trip organized by himself and Len Small, Republican candidate for Governor, is "strictly a cruise to promote interest in waterways and has no political significance."

"We've asked for a government barge to assist in stimulating interest in waterways," Thompson said.

"The trip will last ten days and citizens along the way—people who have worked for the waterways and will benefit by them—will be invited aboard the barge to dance and enjoy themselves."

"There's absolutely nothing political about use of the barge. It's for the public, and not for politicians."

"Mr. Small, myself, and other Republicans will ride on the steamer Cape Girardeau and we'll pay our way. Incidentally, there'll be a lot of good Democrats riding with us."

Thompson, former Mayor of Chicago and manager of Small's campaign for Governor, said Bruce Campbell, Democratic State Committee Chairman and Henry Horner, Democratic candidate for Governor, "would be welcome to accompany us on the cruise if they'll make a speech in favor of waterways—which they evidently are not."

Still Found Near

Springfield Jail

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 9.—(AP)—A still capable of producing 100 gallons of alcohol a day was found running full blast a stone's throw from the Springfield city prison, by federal prohibition investigators yesterday. The raid was made on complaint of neighbors.

Quarters were found vacant but the investigators waited until William Carrigan appeared and arrested him.

POLICE WILLING TO ADMIT

THERE'S CERTAIN KIND OF

HONOR AMONG PICK-POCKETS

Chicago, Sept. 9.—(AP)—The police are willing to say that there may be honor among thieves, after all. They pointed to the case of Abraham Shapiro.

With his alleged partner, Louis Goldman he was to have appeared in court to answer a complaint of attempted pocket picketing, but he failed to arrive, so Goldman telephoned his home.

"No," said Shapiro's wife, when she answered the call, "he won't be there. He stepped into a closet of the bedroom last night and shot himself. I don't know what well do about the funeral. There was only three cents in the pocket when he died."

Democratic Candidate For Governor Outlines Position

EDITOR'S NOTE: Following is the second of a series of three articles in which the candidates for Governor of Illinois outline their views on the campaign and the issues. Judge Horner, the author will address a meeting of Lee county voters at the Dixon Theater at 2:00 Tuesday afternoon.

Democratic Candidate for Governor

(Written for The Associated Press)

Chicago, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Six months of campaigning in the 101 counties of Illinois outside Cook county have convinced me the voters of the state are thoroughly aroused to the issues that will be decided at the poles in November.

They are going to pass upon these issues regardless of partisanship, prejudice, promises, or any of the influences that generally are brought to bear upon them to produce a verdict contrary to their real interests.

They realize that upon the decision which they will make depends their own welfare and that of their families, that the conditions now existing make their livelihood a strike in the election, and that a correct decision is necessary if they are to continue to support their families.

Under the circumstances, it is only natural that the one thing appearing most important to them is reduction of the expenses of state government.

Expenses Increase
They have seen those expenses grow from $27,877,000 in 1920 to $123,240,892 in 1930. During part of that period, the administration in power was headed by the man who now is my opponent.

In the same period the debt of the state increased from nothing under former Governor Frank O. Lowden to $150,305,000. The state tax rate has grown steadily until at present taxation is almost confiscation.

I have in every speech during my six months campaign given my pledge to reduce state expenses. I have made that pledge at mass meetings and at meetings of party workers—and I have told these party workers there would be fewer positions to be filled if I were elected.

The voters know what has happened in the city of Chicago, where an actual effort has been made to reduce government expenses with the result that there has been a 25 to 30 per cent reduction in the tax valuation of real estate and a decrease in tax rates I had something to do with inducing the men who were responsible for the reduction in Chicago, and I know what I could do along those lines for Illinois if I were Governor.

Other Issues

Of course, there are other and most important issues in the campaign. I have tried to make my position clear on all of them. I have been open and above board in my declaration that I am opposed to prohibition and favor repeal of the 18th amendment. I always have had that attitude and have not changed with the times.

During the campaign, I have avoided appeals to class, race, or sectional prejudices. My co-workers have been urged to do likewise.

Regarding the outcome of the election, I believe I will receive a majority of not less than 100,000 votes outside of Cook county and that this will be increased in my home territory.

(Tomorrow: W. W. O'Brien.)

Taxation has reduced the consumption of beer in Vienna from 3,550,000 gallons in May, 1931, to 2,484,000 gallons in the corresponding month of this year.

Women are not allowed to be employed as barmaids or as waitresses in places where alcoholic liquor is sold in Egypt.

Goldman was discharged. A few hours later, someone nudged Alfred M. Wolff of New York in a crowded elevator, and it was not until Mr. Wolff reached the office of a physician that he noticed that his wallet, containing three $100 notes, was gone. Still later someone called at a funeral chapel, inquired if the body of Abe Shapiro was there, and upon learning that it was, left $100 for Abe's funeral.

Mr. Wolff is remaining in Chicago for the Shapiro funeral. Two police sergeants also said they would attend. They said they wondered if Goldman, called "Louie the Mug," would be present.

"OTHER WOMAN"
IN BERN CASE
BEING SOUGHT

Checked Out of Hotel In Frisco Day After His Suicide

BULLETIN
San Francisco, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Dorothy Millette, possibly the woman named in the Paul Bern suicide, disappeared Tuesday night from a river steamer between here and Sacramento, leaving her luggage in her cabin, police were told today by F. J. Oliva, Jr., Oakland, ticket agent for the River Lines.

Whether this was the same "Dorothy Millette" named in the will of the dead motion picture executive as "My wife, Dorothy Millette," could not be definitely ascertained, but Oliva said the woman's ticket was signed with that name before she boarded the steamer.

The register of the Plaza hotel here showed the signature of "D. Millette, New York City" among registrations for May 4, the hotel stating she left September 6, the day after Bern's suicide in Beverly Hills.

The river steamer made one stop en route to Sacramento. Steamer line officials said they found no trace of Miss Millette on arrival at Sacramento Wednesday morning, September 7.

Los Angeles, Sept. 9.—(AP)—The "other woman" in the life of Paul Bern, brilliant film studio executive and husband of blonde Jean Harlow of the screen, was sought today by police in hope she might throw some light on his suicide.

Authorities expressed belief the "mystery woman" is in southern California and may have figured in events immediately preceding the death of Bern last week-end when he shot himself to death in the Benedict Canyon home he occupied during his two months of marriage to the actress.

Miss D. Millette, identified by the Los Angeles Examiner as the "other woman," checked out of a San Francisco hotel Tuesday, the day after Bern's body was found. She had been registered at the hotel since May 4.

For years the mystery woman was known as "Mrs. Paul Bern." She received a check regularly from the director, the last check, according to officials of the film studio where he worked, being mailed to her in San Francisco.

This "Mrs. Paul Bern," the "Miss D. Millette of New York" who had been staying in the San Francisco hotel, and the Dorothy Millette named by Bern in a will in 1920, the Examiner identified as one and the same person.

Police were eager to locate her as all other attempts to clear the mystery of Bern's death have failed.

An inquest yesterday failed to reveal a motive for the suicide, although several witnesses testified the 42-year-old film producer was subject to melancholia resulting from a physical state which would tend to prevent a happy marriage.

The mystery was increased when Henry Bern, a brother, announced last night "certain complications" caused him to continue his silence. He refused to issue a statement which he had promised since arriving here by airplane from New York Wednesday night.

Borrowed Car

PRIEST USED, FOUND TODAY

Abandoned on Hiway Near School Missing Girl Taught

Ottawa, Ill., Sept. 9.—(AP)—The automobile borrowed by the Rev. William Courtney from an Ottawa garage a few hours before Miss Collette Haley, Streator teacher, disappeared from her school Tuesday was found abandoned today on a lonely wooded road three miles north of Leona.

Sheriff E. J. Welter has been searching for the girl and the Catholic priest from Alexis, Ill., whom Miss Haley's brother has charged with kidnapping her.

The spot where the car was found is but ten miles from the school. In the automobile Sheriff Welter said he found a clergyman's transportation book bearing Father Courtney's name. He learned the car had stood there since Tuesday afternoon.

IN POLICE COURT
L. E. Smiler and R. B. Reem, claiming Aurora as their home, were arrested last evening about 8 o'clock on the Lincoln Highway west of Dixon by Sheriff Fred Richardson, Chief J. D. Van Bibber and Patrolman Bohnstiel in response to a telephone call stating that two men, highly intoxicated, were driving carelessly on the highway and blocking the traffic.

Shaken byore Justice J. O. Shaughnessy, 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Shaughnessy, former residents of Amboy, The boy lost his life Monday evening when his older brother, John Jr., fatally shot him while hunting blackbirds.

Herbert Schwartz of Freeport, a companion of the two brothers, accompanied them at the time of the tragic accident. The three boys were standing on the second floor porch at the Shaughnessy home when John picked up a rifle to shoot at blackbirds in a tree. As he aimed the weapon his younger brother stepped in front of him and the 22 calibre bullet pierced his brain, death taking place a few minutes later.

The father of the victim of the tragedy, is an Illinois Central engineer and the Shaughnessy family are well known in Dixon.

IMPROVED CONDITIONS OF FEDERAL TREASURY NOTED IN REPORT FOR PAST WEEK

Washington, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Improvement in the condition of the Treasury over the same period of the last fiscal year was shown today, despite continued declines in custom receipts and income tax returns.

Boosted by the new revenues act, miscellaneous revenue along with some curtailment in expenditures is largely responsible for the bettered conditions shown in the Treasury's latest condition statement.

This statement showed miscellaneous receipts for September 6, which included the Labor Day week-end, at $6,314,961, bringing the total receipts from this source to $21,044,679 for the first six days of September compared with $6,400,576 for the corresponding six days last year.

The total miscellaneous receipts this fiscal year amounted to $118,089,008 representing an increase of about 1 1/2 per cent over the $101,597,927 collected in the same period last year.

A drop in expenditures from $688,218,403 last year to $623,121,319 for the same period this year also was noted.

The indicated deficit of $466,020,228 is more than $141,000,000 less than the deficit of $423,915,389 on the same date last year.

RESIGNATION ACCEPTED
Washington, Sept. 9.—(AP)—According to the request of J. W. Pole, Controller of the Currency, President Hoover today formally accepted his resignation.

Dixon During Day

REPORT CHICKEN THEFTS
Several reports of chicken thefts in the vicinity of Ashton are being investigated by Sheriff Richardson. A number of poultry houses have been entered during the past ten days and a number of chickens carried away, it is reported.

AUDIT CO. RECORDS
The finance committee of the board of supervisors convened at the court house this morning to conduct their annual audit of the records of the various county offices, preparatory to making their report to the county board when it convenes next Tuesday morning.

TO P. M. CONVENTION
Postmaster John E. Moyer will leave Dixon Sunday morning for Boston, Mass., where he will attend the National Postmaster's convention as a delegate from the Illinois organization. The Dixon postmaster will be joined by the postmasters of Geneva, Zion and Wheaton, who will motor through to the convention city stopping at Washington, D. C., for a visit.

COON TRAIL SUNDAY
Manager Russell W. L. of the Oak Ridge baseball team had announced a special entertainment feature to be held next Sunday afternoon at the Ridge diamond preceding the baseball game. A coon trailing exhibition will be featured, over a one mile course. The coon chase, in which trained hounds will trail a live coon, will start at 2:30. Franklin Grove will cross bats with the Riders following the coon chase. Last Sunday Oak Ridge defeated Oregon by a score of 10 to 7 on the Ridge field.

IS NOT SPEEDWAY
Residents along Brinton Avenue, north of the Illinois Central tracks, are bitterly complaining of the practice of speeding and reckless driving along that street. Several narrow escapes from serious accidents have occurred during the summer and residents complain that it has been converted into a speedway. Last evening about 7:30 a car speeding south on Brinton avenue crashed into another machine at the McKinney street intersection, badly damaging both machines, the occupants escaping without injury.

PLANE ENCOUNTED FOG
He said he was nervous as the pilot tried to guide the plane over the Guadalupe chain in foggy weather. As a precaution he tightened his safety belt. When the plane hit the mountainside the other three were thrown forward and probably stunned. Davidson's belt kept him in his seat and left him able to leap from the plane an instant before it took fire. Almost in a moment, the other men were burned to death before his eyes.

Unable to help them, he remained near the plane a while and then started to try to make his way out of the mountains.

After the plane had been some hours overdue, search for it was begun. When McCaughy and Miller finally sighted the wreckage, they had to fly 12 miles forward before finding a place to land. They made their way back to the wreckage on foot over the rough mountain trails.

To Visit Scene Today
Davidson, refinery department manager for the Standard Oil Company, remained at a ranch last night. The rescuing pilots planned to visit the scene of the wreck today.

Ellman was enroute to St. Louis from his mother's home in Los Angeles.

Robbins was a cousin of Reg L. Robbins, who won fame in 1929 as an endurance flier. Reg Robbins taught his cousin how to fly several years ago and the two barnstormed together. Bryant Robbins had been a pilot for the American Airways since its inception as the Texas Air Transport. He and Mrs. Robbins lived with her mother, Mrs. Henry Vaughn, in Everman. There is a son, Byron, ten years old. Briggs lived in Dallas.

Kidnaping Threat
Stirrs Peotone, Ill.
Peotone, Ill., Sept. 9.—(AP)—Twelve-year-old Alfred Ahlborn, Jr. was being guarded today against a threat of kidnaping.

A note left on the screen door at the Ahlborn home warned the family to have $5000 ready or the boy would be kidnapped. It said further directions would come by telegram, but no further word has been received.

The lad's father is employed by a bridge company and his mother is the daughter of Mayor Eichenlaub.

PLANE CRASHED
INTO MOUNTAIN;
THREE MEN DEAD

One Of Four Occupants Escaped: Wreckage Found This Morn

El Paso, Tex., Sept. 9.—(AP)—Tightening of his safety belt saved George A. Davidsons life while his three companions on an airplane trip were burned to death when the ship struck the side of a mountain.

Pilot W. J. Robbins of the American Airways; his co-pilot, Francis W. Briggs; and Victor A. Ellman of St. Louis, a passenger, as was Davidson, were killed. The plane, wrecked yesterday morning, was found early today by two other American Airways pilots Ira McCaughy and Victor O. Miller.

Davidson, who lives in Richmond, Calif., was burned on his hands and face but suffered no serious injuries.

The searchers found him about two miles from the plane. He had stopped to build a fire because he could not find his way in the darkness and needed warmth against the chilly air of the Guadalupe mountains where the ship crashed, about 75 miles east of El Paso.

He said he was nervous as the pilot tried to guide the plane over the Guadalupe chain in foggy weather. As a precaution he tightened his safety belt. When the plane hit the mountainside the other three were thrown forward and probably stunned. Davidson's belt kept him in his seat and left him able to leap from the plane an instant before it took fire. Almost in a moment, the other men were burned to death before his eyes.

Hijacker Locked Victim In Boxcar

Chicago, Sept. 9—(AP)—Two St. Louis truck drivers were robbed of their load of merchandise today by five hi-jackers who were the first to report the crime to police.
Patrick Osborne, 335, and William Chaney, 335, driving a truck of the Acme Freight Company, said five men in two automobiles stopped them at Broadwood, 60 miles southwest of here, drove them to Chicago and locked them in an empty freight car.
Before police heard their story they received an anonymous telephone call telling them a stolen truck was abandoned on the south-west side and two men locked in a box car at a designated siding. Police said the robbers probably feared their victims would starve to death.

Try To Prevent Teacher Marrying

Morris, Ill., Sept. 9—(AP)—Somebody doesn't want Miss Marquette Walker, 25, a school teacher, to get married.

And who that somebody is will be a question the county grand jury probably will take up when it meets next Monday.

Five sinister letters, made up of words clipped from newspapers and pasted into sentences, warning Miss Walker not to marry Florio Fornella, have been received by the prospective bride.

In addition to these warnings Cuthbert Peart, brother-in-law of Miss Walker, complains that he has been twice kidnaped by two men, and warned to stop the wedding.

Once he said they threw lighted matches in his hair.

"It's all very mysterious, but county officials who have spent two nights at the farm of Miss Walker's father, Andrew, near Coal City, seeking a solution of the mystery say they have a pretty good idea who was behind the plot. They mentioned no names.

SHOT SELF—FINED

Albuquerque, N. M.—It's getting so a fellow can't even shoot himself, Santos Candelaria complains. Neighbors heard him quarreling with his mother. Later they heard a shot. Police hurried to the scene expecting to find the mother murdered. Instead they found Santos, with a self-inflicted wound in his shoulder. He was taken to jail, charged with discharging firearms in the city, and fined $10.

A Crusader for Dogdom

ALTHOUGH more people own dogs and are fond of them than of all other animals put together, Albert Payson Terhune, noted author and dog lover, believes that few take the trouble to understand them. By newspaper and magazine he has for years been telling people about dogs. Now to further increase an understanding of these pets he will take to the air also, and every other Monday at noon on the Circle program he is going to talk about their characteristics and habits. Mr. Terhune is pictured above with a group of his pets on the grounds of his estate, Sunnybank Farm, at Pompton Lake, N. J.

SON DIED IN EAST

Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Charland of this city last evening received a message from Richmond, Va., announcing the serious illness of their son, Louis, who is a farmer near that city. Mr. and Mrs. Charland and son Walter left late last night by auto to drive to Richmond, but a telegram this morning announced the death of their son at a hospital in that city at 8:05 today.

The deceased lived in Dixon until about a month ago, then with his wife and two children, moved to a farm near Richmond, Va., where he had since made his home. He had been suffering from stomach trouble and when taken seriously ill was removed to the hospital where it was planned to conduct an operation. Mr. Charland during his residence in Dixon had been employed at the Borden condensory for several months.

HAS POSSIBILITIES

Boston—Alimony slaves might take a tip from the actions of Salvatore Schepel, of Sausage, recently revealed in court. Salvatore was supposed to pay $8 a week for the support of his wife. It was discovered that, for the past five or six months, he has been using the same $8 he paid her the first week, paying it in to the probation office and then forcing her to return it to him as soon as she received it.

RAYMOND ROBINS DISAPPEARS ON WAY TO HOOVER

Dreier, also is a well-known social worker.

Was A Progressive
Between 1902 and 1905 he engaged in social betterment work in Chicago and later was on the Chicago Board of Education. Turning to politics, he became chairman of the Illinois Central Committee of the Progressive Party and was that party's candidate for the United States Senate in 1914.

In 1916, he was temporary and permanent chairman of the Progressive national convention.

Robins was an active worker with the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. During the war he was made a Lieutenant Colonel in the Army and placed in command of the American Red Cross Mission in Russia, serving in that capacity from November 17 to May, 1918.

Robins was a member of the executive committee of the Republican National Committee from 1920 to 1924.

Recently, he has been actively associated with the Allied Forces for Prohibition headed by Dr. Daniel A. Poling. He served on the "Flying Squadron", making nation-wide speaking tours.

Robins also is widely known for his interest in the outlawry of war.

presence of mind to swim under the water until I was sure there was no further danger."

E. G. Wallenstik, 21, of Yonkers, said:

"I was sitting on the top deck with six of my companions after the boat had backed out. Suddenly there was a terrific explosion and we were all hurled high into the air. I came down in the water and saw that the boat had been blown to bits, and grabbed a life saver. I could not see any of my companions except one man. We both swam ashore, where somebody lifted us up and we were taken to the hospital.

After surveying the situation at the scene District Attorney McLaughlin ordered all witnesses to his office, which he said would be headquarters for the inquiry.

3 cups flour
1-2 cup sugar
6 teaspoons baking powder
1-2 teaspoon salt
2 eggs
1-2 cups milk
2-3 cup raisins
4 tablespoons fat, melted
Mix dry ingredients. Add eggs and milk. Beat 2 minutes. Add rest of ingredients. Half fill greased muffin pans and bake 15 minutes in moderate oven. Serve warm with butter or honey.

Smothered Chicken
5 pound chicken
1-3 cup flour
1-2 teaspoon salt
1-4 teaspoon paprika
6 tablespoons fat
1-2 cups boiling water
3 tablespoons butter
3 tablespoons flour
Cut up chicken for serving. Wash in cold water. Wipe dry and roll in flour. Sprinkle with salt and paprika. Heat fat in frying pan. Add and brown chicken. Place browned chicken in baking pan. Pour water into frying pan and boil 1 minute.

Four over chicken and cover. Bake 1-3 hours in moderately slow oven. Turn often to allow even browning. When chicken is done, remove it from baking pan. Blend butter and flour and add to chicken stock. Mix well and add 1-2 cup of hot water. Stir and cook 1 minute. Arrange chicken on serving platter and surround with gravy. Garnish with parsley and serve at once.

To prevent salad ingredients from discoloring cover with a French dressing as soon as prepared and store in the ice box until ready to serve.

PIERROT RUCHES
NEW EVENING WRAPS—
Paris (AP)—Pierrot ruches are offered by one Paris designer as the last word in "little wraps" to wear with evening gowns this fall. He makes them of bright hued velvet loops or chiffon circles edged in feathers in designs exactly like those associated with the European clown.

Manequins wore them draped softly about the shoulders with evening frocks.

If you think screen stars spend all their time working hard on the film lots and never have time to go to parties—why, you're wrong. No, SIR—don't let those press agents fool you! Just see who we have here—all dressed up for a recent Hollywood premiere, left to right: Helen Mann, Lorena Layson, Alice Jans and Monica Bannister. And now you have a good idea of what actresses look like off the screen.

'Creeping Shadows'; Home Talent Promises Great Entertainment

The American Legion Auxiliary home talent show next Thursday and Friday nights at St. Anne's hall promises the greatest entertainment.

As value offered in Dixon in many a day. In addition to the three act mystery comedy drama of unusually high standard there will be a large number of dance novelties. Misses Gladys and Mildred Ortigues will present a song sketch in their inimitable manner. They have already acquired an appreciative public who are admiring listeners over their Friday broadcasts over KFLV in Rockford.

Miss Elsie Neff is presenting the following program as being representative of the work accomplished in school of dancing:

Song and Dance—Is I In Love? 1 Is—Marie Lee Burns.
High Hats—Margaret Ball, Rebecca Jane Goff, Lois Blumling, Helen Louise Boyd, Carol Heckman.

Missionary Circle Held Happy Meeting; Picnic Supper

Tuesday evening, Sept. 6th, the Young People's Missionary Circle of the Christian Church held a meeting at the Boos cabin. As this was the third anniversary of the club each charter member was called upon for a short speech.

The meeting was opened by President Lucille Rhodes. The Lord's Prayer was recited and the "World Fellowship Hymn" sung by everyone.

The secretary's report was read and approved. The treasurer reported that this meeting marked the end of the quarter and dues were to be remitted to the United Christian Missionary Society. A discussion followed as to whether or not the financial goal for the year should be increased. The majority ruling that it should not be increased. The Measure of Advance was marked as follows:

Members—9.
Visitors—3.
The offering was taken and prayer of thanks given by Miss Olive Boos.

Miss Helen Mae Fish opened the worship period, having all sing the hymn, "Love Divine."

The Scripture reading was in the book of Psalm, 23.
The hymn "I Love to Tell the Story" closed this period.

Mrs. Ethel Hackbarth led the presentation period. The topic was Indian Trails. A talk on "The Indian As I Know Him" was given by Miss Olive Boos. "Gifts We Bring" was given by Miss Ethel Seyster. "The Girl Who Shards Herself" by Miss Evelyn Graft; and High Points from American Indians" by Miss Lucille Rhodes.

The Circle benediction given by all closed the presentation period.

A picnic supper was then much enjoyed. During the fellowship period, questions taken from the Bible were asked each one present, bringing to an end another very interesting meeting.

W. H. AND F. M. S. TO MEET TUESDAY AFTERNOON—
The Women's Home and Foreign Missionary Society of Grace Evangelical church will meet Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 at the church. A good attendance is desired. Miss Rilla Webster and Miss Minnie Jones will be the hostesses for the afternoon.

St. James Aid Met at Reed Home

On Wednesday, Sept. 7th, Mrs. Hubert Bahen, Mrs. Miles Bahen, Mrs. John Moore and Miss Marion Bahen and Mrs. Reed were hostesses to St. James Aid Society at the home of Mrs. Burton Reed near Amboy.

The house decorations were very pretty and were cut flowers. At noon all enjoyed very much the delicious picnic dinner.

Afterward the business meeting was opened by all joining in song. The president then read from Luke, sixth chapter, 27-41. This was followed by roll call, the minutes of the last meeting, and the treasurer's report. Cards of thanks were also read.

Plans were made by the social committee to hold a chicken supper in the near future.

Those taking part on the program were Mrs. Leon Burkett, who favored with two songs; and Mrs. Bahen, who conducted two contests. An enjoyable day was spent by all at the Reed home.

The October meeting is to be held at the home of Mrs. Leon Burkett.

Dixon Women At Twin City Club

The women golfers of the Dixon Country Club were delightfully entertained on Wednesday at the Twin City Golf Club near Sterling. In the golf match Mrs. L. A. Neis won the prize for low medal score, and Mrs. H. M. Edwards the low putting prize for Dixon. A most delicious luncheon was served at noon.

RONALD REAGAN TO EUREKA FOR "RUSH" WEEK

Ronald Reagan, graduate of Eureka College, '32, will go to Eureka today where he will take part in the "rush" week festivities. His brother Neil, is continuing his studies at Eureka College.

Miss Margaret Cleaver, who also graduated from Eureka and who is teaching at Cropsey, Ill., this year, will visit Eureka with Mr. Reagan, as he will motor there on his way down.

Miss Rexine Hudson Bride David Malone Of Murphysboro, Ill.

Dixon friends will be interested in learning of the marriage of a former popular Dixon girl, Miss Rexine Hudson to David Malone of Murphysboro, Ill. The marriage took place in Clayton, Mo., on June 25th.

Mr. and Mrs. Malone were attended by Miss Leona Adams and Frederick Malone, both from Murphysboro.

The bride is a graduate of Dixon high school and has many friends who will be surprised to hear of her marriage. She is a charming and brilliant young woman.

Mr. Malone was graduated from the Murphysboro high school and is employed at the Western United Electric Company in that city.

Mrs. Malone was attractively attired in an ankle length egg shell crepe dress with all accessories in blue. Miss Adams wore baby blue chiffon with accessories in egg shell.

Mr. and Mrs. David Malone are making their home at 1913 Division street in Murphysboro, Ill.

Mrs. Malone is a sister of Mrs. Harold Schertner and James Hudson of Dixon.

Bridge Breakfast Thursday at Walder Home Happy Affair

Mrs. H. F. Walder was hostess Thursday at a charming bridge breakfast, entertaining at this time twenty-four ladies. An attractively appointed breakfast was served. The tables were lovely in fall flowers, the chief color note being pink and lavender, with tallies and favors harmonizing.

At bridge Mrs. Grover Gehant was awarded the favor for high honors; Mrs. Arthur Bowers was awarded second favor and Mrs. Earl Bastian was awarded the consolation favor. Mrs. G. A. Rhoads of Fulton received the honor prize.

Mrs. Ralph Hanson of Cincinnati, O., and Mrs. George Rhoads were out of town guests in attendance.

MISS RICHARDSON WILL SPEND WEEK END HERE

Miss Avis Richardson who is a student nurse at St. Luke's hospital training school for nurses will spend the week end with her parents in Dixon, Mr. and Mrs. John Richardson.

U. I. Coeds Explain To 150 Matriculants

Urbana, Ill., Sept. 9—(AP)—University of Illinois freshmen began to learn about college life from senior women students today, even before their class work had begun.

Coeds accompanied 150 matriculants on a three-day outing to Camp Seaboard, operated by the university Y. M. C. A., at Decatur. The purpose of the annual trip was to help new students bridge the gap between high school and college.

Miss Jean Johnston of Decatur talked to them on "Men and Women Relationships on the Campus." Miss Ada Henry discussed church foundation work.

Oil Berry, football captain, who spent his summer vacation at Dixon, and Fred Turner, Dean of Men, and W. B. Arnold of Robinson, president of the Student Union, added their explanations of campus life.

QUILT DISPLAY

For the past year and a half, we have sold thousands of yards of wash fabrics to be used in the making of pieced quilts.

We have had the pleasure of seeing a number of these when finished and we are certainly impressed with the beauty of these quilts and amazed at the time and patience necessary for their completion.

We feel sure that there are hundreds of these quilts that would be of interest to the public and we are therefore inviting the ladies to bring their quilts to our store for display. To enhance the interest we are giving away five valuable prizes: three for the most attractive quilts, one for the oldest quilt and one for the greatest number of pieces in a single quilt.

There are no strings attached to this contest. Everyone is cordially invited. It is not necessary that the material used in these quilts should have come from our store nor that you make any purchases to enter contest to win the prizes.

The judging will be by popular approval. Date of selection and prize giving to be announced later.

GIRLS STILL LOVE DOLLS.

Life of late has been extremely real and earnest and seems to be growing more so all the time, but here's news that the world of make-believe still persists. Statistics on the doll industry show that more than $25,000,000 worth of dolls are sold in the United States each year and the industry has shown almost no falling off.

Besides the demand for dolls of all descriptions there is a ready market for doll houses, doll furniture, doll dishes and doll wardrobes. Little girls in 1932 seem to play with dolls just as much as they did a generation ago.

Of course, the dolls are different from mother's and grandmother's. Some of them have voices, some have eyelashes of real hair and some are made of strange new materials. A company which has introduced a new baby doll with flexible limbs and extremely life-like appearance has announced that it has adopted a 24-hour schedule for weeks to come in order to take of advance orders.

A fine thing, of course, for that company, for the toy shops and for business in general. But it seems to have more significance. There's something pleasant in learning that little girls play with dolls.

SOCIETY'S RESPONSIBILITY.

One of the most tragic stories of the depression has to do with Frank Howard, 72-year-old Boston man, who seems likely to spend the remainder of his life in prison for the theft of a pair of shoes, a bottle of perfume and a handbag, all worth $7.

Howard was sentenced to life imprisonment for armed robbery back in 1897, but in 1914 he was given a parole.

For 14 years he worked as a painter and went straight. He married and became a respectable citizen. Then came the depression and Howard was out of work. For nearly four years he stuck it out, doing odd jobs here and there and making a $5 old age pension as far as it would.

Then, desperate, he committed the theft, was caught and automatically committed to prison.

The logical supposition is that Howard would have gone "straight" if society had been prepared to give him work. Cases of this kind emphasize more and more the fact that society must take a large share of the blame for many of our criminal acts.

THE LESSON OF VERDUN.

Everyone has read about the battle of Verdun. Everyone knows that it was a titanic struggle, waged on a scale that dwarfs almost every other battle in world history. But very few of us ever realize just how tremendous, and terrible, the conflict really was.

A few days ago the French republic dedicated the great ossuary of Douaumont. In this memorial are contained the bones, or what remains of them, of 400,000 Frenchmen whose bodies could not be identified.

Ponder over the implications in that sentence and you will begin to understand the real scope of the battle of Verdun. The total casualty list, of course, was far above 400,000; that simply represents the number of corpses that were beyond recognition when time for burial came.

Was there ever, since the world began, a more frightful slaughter than that? Could there ever, under any circumstances, be an excuse for letting such a thing happen again?

THE PICKINGS ARE SLIM FOR PICKPOCKETS.

Another business has hit the rocks—and few indeed will grieve about it. It's the pickpocket industry, according to an expert, is almost no pickings at all these days. The expert quoted is a gentleman police say has been arrested 2000 times for reaching into strangers' pockets and removing valuables.

Just the other day in Chicago when the 2000th arrest was made this veteran declared, "What was I doing? I was watching seven pickpockets, the best in the business, standing in the breadline. The good ones are all dead and the young ones don't get enough."

From this it looks as though the pickpockets industry is in serious straits. Nobody feels like bragging because fewer citizens are going around with cash jingling in their pockets. Just the same it's pleasant to know that the old watch and chain are in less danger and that chances on the family wallet remaining where it is put have improved.

I thank God that I shall be spared from seeing the consummation of ruin that is gathering around us.—The Duke of Wellington, in 1851, during a depression.

A great many bright men have come from the far west and the brighter they are the sooner they come.—Edwin Markham, writer.

No crisis in any country was ever solved by the simple process of running around in short circles and screaming. "Isn't it awful?"—Heywood Brown, New York columnist.

I am serious about marriage—too serious to indulge in it.—Tallulah Bankhead, movie actress.

The White House Hoovers—President and Resident

At the left is Herbert Hoover and at the right is his wife, and this is the first picture ever made of the White House Hoovers together.

By NEA Service

Washington—Regardless of what the voters do in November, there'll still be a Hoover in the White House after March 4—that is, unless Ike Hoover, chief usher at the executive mansion, chooses to retire from his job.

But that's almost unthinkable, for the Hoover has been a member of the White House staff for 41 years now and he's become almost as much a fixture around the place as the bubbling fountain on the east lawn or the tall flagstaff that rears itself above the roof. He's seen lots of presidents come, and lots of them go in his 41 years.

"I came over from the Edison Company in Plainfield, N. J., to install electric lights in the White House," explains Ike. "I finished my work and returned to New Jersey, only to be recalled next day and offered a job at looking after the lights. I've been here ever since."

In those early days, says Ike, no one knew anything about electric lights and everybody seemed afraid of them. The servants, and even members of the household, would allow the lights to burn all night rather than turn them off. Often, they would throw a black cloth over the globes rather than touch the switch.

Here's a Pre-view of New Building for Supreme Tribunal

By NEA Service

Washington—The United States Supreme Court, highest judiciary body in the land, has never been dignified to the extent of having its own building on Capitol Hill. But all that is to be remedied soon, for on October 13 will be laid the cornerstone of an $8,363,000 temple of justice.

Architects' drawings, now complete, show that the exterior will be of white marble, with the central portion, flanked by two identical wings, faced by imposing pillars. The wings will house offices, conference rooms and libraries, with the court room itself in the central building.

But the room where America's highest tribunal will sit will not be large in floor area. It will be only 43x43 feet—dimensions suitable to the aloof and exclusive dignity of the Supreme Court. It will, however, be two stories in height, and finished with imported colored marbles. A life-size frieze, also carved in marble, and Latin inscriptions will top the tall columns surrounding the room. Incidentally the composition of the frieze and texts of the inscriptions have not yet been determined.

Except for the actual furniture, there will be no wood in this room, and very little metal. Even the grill work through which it will look out through tall French windows into landscaped courts will be of intricately carved marble.

The building, which will be completed in three years, will face the Capitol grounds from the site once occupied by the old brick Capitol, where Congress once convened for a time after the original Capitol was burned by the British in 1814. The Supreme Court has been sitting in the room of the Capitol which, prior to its reconstruction, was occupied by the House of Representatives.

Elect "Friends" Plea To Farmers

Chicago, Sept. 8.—(AP)—Election of Congressmen "friendly to agriculture" occupied the minds of directors of the American Farm Bureau Federation at their quarterly meeting today.

President Edward A. O'Neal of Alabama told the 16 directors it would be necessary to support candidates favoring the Bureau's program in the November elections. It includes, he said, "the honest dollar, equality under the tariff, and fair taxes."

The Bureau, he said, never chooses between presidential candidates and would not this year.

The shooting star cried, "This is fun. I will show you how my shooting is done. Hang on now to your basket, because we're going very fast."

"I'll go for all that I am worth and head directly toward the earth."

Duncy cried, "Oh, my, how long is this trip going to last?" "What do you care?" asked we Scouty. "We are just as safe as we can be as long as we don't tumble out. I think this trip is great."

"Why do you look for trouble lad? So far not one thing's turned out bad. You always seem to worry and that's one thing that I hate."

"All right," said we Scouty. "I will keep still. I will admit this is a thrill. I will not say another word until we land some place."

"I've heard of shooting stars before, so should have known that was in store. It seems, right now, that we are in for a mighty fast race."

because it kept on gaining speed. Down, down they went, till Windy cried, "I see the earth below."

"Look at the trees. They seem real near and that's where we're bound for, I fear. No wonder we Duncy was afraid. My spirit too, is low."

Just then a great big cloud drew nigh and, as it floated thru the sky the little star whizzed through it. For a moment all was dark.

Then they sailed back into the light to find that all was quite all right. Coppy caught his breath and cried, "This surely is a big treat."

Alas! The ride was due to flop. Before they had a chance to stop the bottom of the basket ripped and was greeted by a shout.

"We're doomed! We're doomed!" one Tiny cried. "We cannot hang tight to the side." In just about a moment all the Tines toppled out.

(A large box kite saves the Tines in the next story.)

NATIONALISTS WILL GO INTO SERIES TIRED

Another Close Race Will Take Much Out Of Champs

By HUGH FULLERTON
Associated Press Sport Writer

Back in the long lean years, those four seasons from 1927 through 1930 when the National League champions couldn't win a world series and seldom could win a game in the great October classic, the explanation often was advanced that the close races in the senior circuit took too much out of the winners and left them easy prey for the American Leaguers.

The same contrast comes up again this year as the National League race goes down the home stretch with seven teams still mathematically in the running while only three are left in the American, two of them with only the slimmest kind of a chance to overtake the New York Yankees.

After checking in with a 14-inning victory and a seven-inning tie, with Detroit yesterday, the Yanks need only four victories for the series, four defeats for Philadelphia and Washington or any combination with that figure to clinch the pennant. At the same time the Chicago Cubs, leading Pittsburgh by 5 1-2 games with 18 to go, have to work on a 13 game basis to make it a certainty.

Perils of Road Trip

The perils of the season's last road trip affected the leaders in both circuits. The Yankees had to go five extra innings in the first game before they put over the two runs to defeat the Tigers 6 to 4 and darkness stopped them in the second clash tied in the seventh inning at seven-all.

Philadelphia's Athletics lost a precious game to Cleveland as Clint Brown held them to four hits to get a 2 to 1 decision over Lefty Grove. Another four-hit performance with Monte Weaver doing the flinging to ring up his 20th victory of the season, enabled Washington to turn back the St. Louis Browns, 3 to 1, and keep pace with the Yanks.

In the fourth American League contest, red Lyons, Chicago veteran, pitched a fine ten-inning game and then scored the winning run himself for a 4-3 victory over the Boston Red Sox.

Cubs Gain Half Game

A divided doubleheader with Boston added a half game to the Cubs' lead as Pittsburgh took another one on the chin from Brooklyn. Charley Root's six-hit hurling and a big eighth-inning rally gave Chicago a 4-1 victory in the opener, but Bob Brown duplicated the six-hit feat for Boston in the nightcap and a homer by Wally Berger led to a 3-2 triumph.

Pittsburgh couldn't approach Brooklyn's hitting feats and was buried under a 12 to 2 score.

A circuit drive by Don Hurst with two on base in the first inning gave the Phillies a 3 to 0 victory over the Cardinals in the only other National League game as Ray Benge limited the 1931 champion to three hits.

Yesterday's Stars—

Sammy Byrd, Yankees — Battered Tiger pitching for five hits, including two homers.

Charley Root, Cubs and Bobby Brown, Braves — Each allowed only six hits as teams split double-header.

Frank O'Doul, Dodgers — Collected two home runs and two singles against Pirates.

Ray Benge, Phillies — Beat the Cardinals on three hits and struck out eight.

Clint Brown, Indians — Out-pitched Bob Grove, holding Athletics to four hits and winning 2 to 1.

Ted Lyons, White Sox — Held Red Sox to six hits and scored winning run after single in the tenth.

Monte Weaver and Carl Reynolds — Former held Browns to four hits, latter collected triple, double and two singles.

Marchioness Races to Uphold Tradition

Since 1926, when the first Hambletonian Stake was decided at Syracuse, all but one Hambletonian winner has gone on to win the $14,000 Kentucky Futurity, trotted annually at Lexington. It was Guy's McKinney in 1926, Isola's Worthy in 1927, Spencer in 1928, Walter Dear in 1929 and Hanover's Berlin in 1930. Protector, who won the Futurity last year, was not eligible for the Hambletonian. Thus the Marchioness, this evening, Sept. 10, with tradition and past records on her side, Marchioness and Driver Billy Caton, are 50 year's Hambletonian winner, will go to the post at Lown above.

A BOOK A DAY

STORY OF IRISH ADVENTURER IS THRILLING TALE

If you like adventure, don't fail to read "The Life and Adventures of Aloysius O'Callaghan," by Thomas Washington-Metcalf. To say that this book is "Robinson Crusoe" and "The Three Musketeers" rolled into one is putting it mildly. It starts with a rush and ends the same way. And despite its supreme impossibility, it is a great story, amazingly well done. It takes lusty, witty, swaggering O'Callaghan through his days as a stable boy, a seaman on a desert island, during which his champion is eaten by cannibals, a visit to the Alaskan gold country, and his final settlement in Santa Anna, a banana republic where he is virtually king.

A bare outline can give little more than a hint of the breathless pace with which this book moves. Plots for a dozen ordinary novels are disposed of in a page and a sentence takes care of chapters.

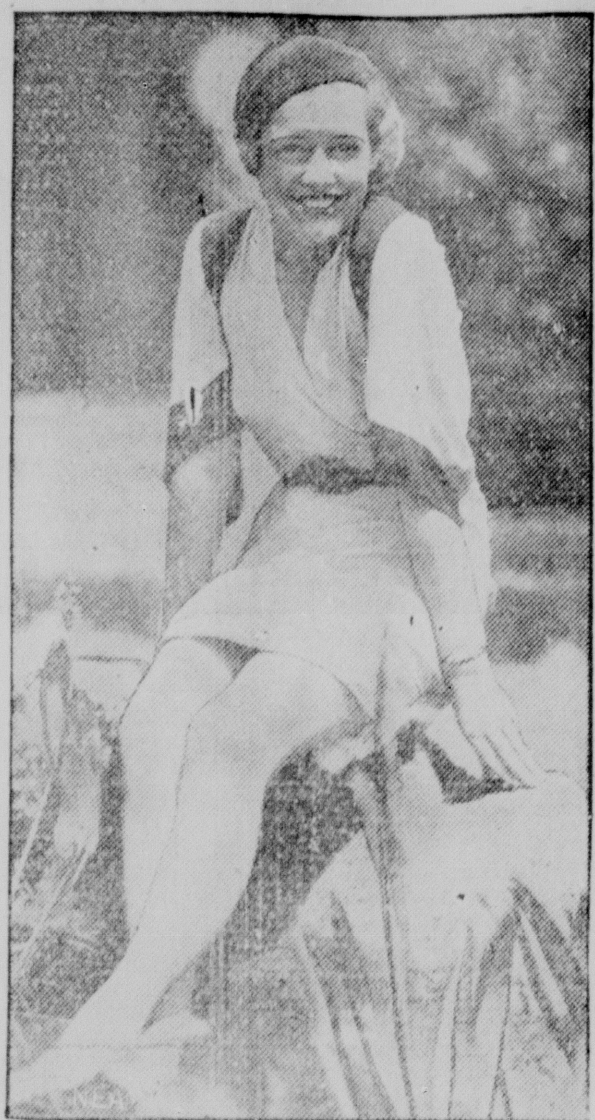

Friends Of Church Want Him On Ticket

Waukegan, Ill., Sept. 8.—(AP)—Petitions to place the name of Ralph E. Church of Evanston on the ballot as independent candidate for Congress from the 10th Illinois District if he loses the ballot recount now in progress were circulated today in the north shore suburbs of Chicago.

Church, a state Representative won the Republican nomination many election votes, defeating on the original tabulation of primary, Carl R. Chindblom, who ran third. James Simpson, Jr., young Harvard graduate, has taken a slight lead in the contest he in-

Movies Sign Water Dolly

Add to your list of favorite movie queens the name of Eleanor Holm, the niftiest little backstroke swimmer this world has seen. Eleanor could have been a "Follies dolly," but she put her signature to a long-term contract offered by a leading movie firm. Whether it's swimming, or merely looking beautiful, the little New York girl should qualify easily. She was a recent winner in the Olympic swimming contests for women and, judging from the photo, she ought to win something in the movies, too.

Many Applications For Loans On Homes

Washington, Sept. 8.—(AP)—Opening of the twelve Home Loan Banks still is a month off but already the federal directing board is scanning thousands of applications for direct loans.

The volume of requests from home owners was described today by Chairman Franklin W. Port as a "deluge" but he said all are receiving attention and where the mortgage collateral appears sound the board is endeavoring to arrange the desired refinancing before the scheduled opening of its regional banks October 15.

The procedure is to forward such applications to lending organizations in the various states. They go to building and loan association clearing houses where these organizations exist, and the board is encouraging their creation throughout the country.

"When the regional banks open for business," Port said, "those local financing institutions which have aided home owners in the interim may pledge these home mortgages as collateral to obtain funds to replace those thus used."

Violators Old Dry Laws Get Amnesty

Helsinki, Finland, Sept. 8.—(AP)—A bill granting amnesty to about 20,000 prisoners, mostly violators of the prohibition laws which have been repealed, was introduced by the government in parliament today. Its object is to relieve congestion in the Finnish prisons.

Most of the prisoners who would be affected are those who were unable to pay fines for offenses against the dry laws. The amnesty would not include bootleggers and smugglers serving long terms.

It was expected Parliament would approve the bill, if for no other reason than to save the expense of supporting great numbers of prisoners.

Hoover's Chances Good Says Mellon

London, Sept. 8.—(AP)—President Hoover's chances for re-election at the present time, Ambassador Andrew W. Mellon said on his return from the United States today, are equally as good as they were two months before the election in 1928. The President's efforts to remedy the depression and unemployment, he said, already are taking effect.

WEST BROOKLYN

By Henry Gehant

West Brooklyn—Howard Bodmer was over from Steward on Thursday visiting the cheese factory. He is sending his milk to the plant and was anxious to see how cheese is made.

Mr. and Mrs. John Erbes motored to Sterling the latter part of the week where they visited with friends.

The members of the county Taxpayers Association assembled at the opera house on Saturday evening where a township organization was formulated. There were many present from Viola and Lee Center townships and the meeting was in charge of county Chairman John R. Oester and W. F. Aydelotte of Dixon. The officers for the township as selected by ballot were: John R. Oester, president; Fred Gilmore, first vice president; John Florschuetz, second vice-president; Henry W. Gehant, secretary; Carl Truckenbrod, assistant secretary and Gustave Engelhart, treasurer. Thus far about ninety members have been secured within the township and it is hoped that this can be increased greatly.

Progressive business men realize that in order to make a good profit they must have quick turnover of stock.

The only way this can be done is by TRUTHFUL ADVERTISING.

The printed page is the one big opportunity to advertise with exceptional efficiency and economy.

Newspaper advertising brings a business in direct contact with every home in the community.

Advertisements are read by potential customers—by people who have money to spend.

Advertisements put people in a buying mood.

The business that succeeds is the business that sells what the people want. People are sold on advertised goods.

Stores that link their business with advertising are the stores that leap to leadership.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

Modern medical science has discovered that the Indian was not so keen sighted as we have been led to believe. Many of our first Americans were blind and stone deaf ... a condition caused by tumors in the ears. Even the passing of the eyesight test is not conclusive evidence of good vision, for the dim companion star of Mizar can be seen by persons whose eyesight is far from first class. Make the test yourself on the first clear night.

"Passing the Buck" "It is our observation that every time we get into trouble it is due to not having been lazy enough," says Christopher Morley in the Golden Book Magazine. "The man who is really thoroughly, and philosophically slothful is the only thoroughly happy man. It is the happy man who benefits the world. The conclusion is inescapable. . . . Mind your business is a good counsel; but mind your idleness also. It's a tragic thing to make a business of your mind. Save your mind to amuse yourself with. The lazy man does not stand in the way of progress. When he sees progress roaring down upon him he steps nimbly out of the way. The lazy man doesn't (in the vulgar phrase) pass the buck. He lets the buck pass him."

Desert Men

Day after day, the silent men of the desert go forward across its monotonous horizons; their mouths are flanked with these two deep lines of patience and of sorrow which you may note today in all the ghettos of Europe; their smile, when they smile, is restrained by a sort of ironic strength in the muscles of the face. Their eyes are more bright than should be eyes of happy men; they are, as it were, injured to sterility; there is nothing in them of that repose which we westerners acquire from a continual contemplation of deep pastures and of innumerable leaves; they are at war, not only among themselves, but against the good earth; in a silent and powerful way they are also afraid.—Hilare Belloc.

Who was Who?

WILD BILL

THEY called him "Wild Bill" Hickok, but his name wasn't William at all, and instead of being wild, he was—most of the time—the quietest, softest-spoken man in the whole history of the frontier. His real name was James Butler Hickok, a native of Illinois, who served as a spy for the Union army in Missouri during the Civil war and later as an Overland stage driver and a scout for army troops in the Indian wars in the West.

The name "Wild Bill" was tacked on to him because of a desperate hand-to-hand battle he was supposed to have fought with the "McCandias gang" while he was employed by the stage company. The only trouble with the story is that such a fight has never been described by many writers never took place. Official records in the Nebraska Historical society show that Hickok killed one man named McCandias, a peaceful settler, and the manner of the killing was such as to reflect little if any credit upon Hickok.

Later as a marshal in various Kansas towns, Hickok made a brilliant record as a peace officer, being noted for the deadliness of his aim with a pistol. This enhanced his reputation as "Wild Bill," but it also led to his downfall. Eventually a would-be bad man, who dared not face Hickok, slipped up behind him as he sat at a card game in Deadwood, S. D., one day in 1876 and shot him down.

Mrs. Alligator's Family

A female alligator is extremely belligerent as she stands guard over her nest of eggs. Her nest, which is constructed without the aid of the male, resembles very much the nest of a muskrat. It is made by the piling together of swamp vegetation. Then it is hollowed out in the center and the eggs deposited, numbering from 25 to 75. Contrary to common belief, the growth of the alligator is fairly rapid. Doctor Schmidt, assistant curator of zoology, is authority for the statement that a "gator" often attains a length of 12 feet by the time it reaches its fifteenth year.

Poisonous Lion Fish

A lion fish, now on display in the Field Museum of Natural History, Chicago, is exceedingly poisonous. It is to be found in large numbers along the shores of islands in the Pacific. Along its back, the fish has a row of spines which can be raised so that they stand up like a picket fence. The tips will penetrate fish at a slight touch and in so doing will smear poison into the puncture. The fish are brilliantly colored, but so well do their colors blend with the surroundings that they are almost invisible.

NIGHT WORK TOO—

It isn't unusual for them to take court business to their homes for study at night. When the court is sitting for hear arguments as it does for four weeks at a time, with intervals of three weeks each, catch up the justices, from Chief Justice Hughes down the line, get only 30 minutes for lunch.

And this luncheon period is spent in the conference room. Their messengers bring trays from their homes, or from the senate restaurant. Everything is in readiness by the time the justices leave the bench.

A sort of kitchenette has been set up, with a stove, ice box, dishes and the like that the necessary table service may be had. Since the death of William H. Taft, these half-hour luncheon periods have lost much of their glamour. He regarded them as among the most important parts of his day. For it was only at luncheon that he was permitted any liberty of selecting his own food.

Doctors had restricted his morning and evening meals to almost nothing. They consisted mostly of a piece of special bread toasted to hardness.

LITTLE TIME TO EAT—

It was a familiar sight to see him mount the bench at noon and almost immediately look at the menu card sent up by the senate restaurant. He would pencil those dishes that struck his fancy, and his messenger would use the card as a guide in preparing the hurried meal at 2:00. Even so, he could do little more than taste his food.

He had to be back on the law bench by 2:30.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

MONA TOWNSEND, beautiful young widow, inherits her husband's millions with the provision that she must not reveal. Her marriage, arranged by her husband's lawyer who was Mona's employer, was a strange affair, leaving her free at the end of a year to become her husband's wife in actuality or secure a divorce.

Monna, in love with her husband's nephew, SHARRY TOWNSEND, agreed to the marriage when she thought Barry was lost to her.

She employs LOTTIE CAHR, a fashion model, as her secretary, companion and they set out for South America, where Barry and STEVE SACARELLI are partners in a diamond mine. Monna's brother, HUB, works at the mine. Monna hopes for a reconciliation with Barry. She also feels Barry is entitled to a share of his uncle's fortune and wants to find a way to arrange this legally.

Learning that Barry and Steve are on vacation at Holiday Island, the girls leave their hotel at the beach and go to the beach. Barry and Steve are cordial but not friendly. Barry and Steve do not ask for explanations and she cannot make them.

Affairs remain thus for several days. Monna, worried, decides to return home. She tells Barry she is restless and goes to the beach and finds Barry there. He tells her her husband's lawyer has asked her to marry him. Monna refuses. She feels she must first find a way to give him a share of his uncle's fortune. They quarrel.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XLV

THE next morning Monna decided to remain in her room. There was packing to do. There were cables to send. For of course now she would have to go home.

Josie, arriving with fruit and coffee at eight as usual, found the girls seated on Monna's bed, engaged in serious conversation.

"You told him, no?" Lottie said curiously, "and you meant it?"

"I mean it now, yes! But not for always. That is unless Barry insists on regarding this as final. I can't relinquish that money, Lottie, until I find some way to give some of it to him. Only his rightful share. It's more his than mine. You can see that!"

"You might sell the Empress," considered Lottie slowly. "Steve said something yesterday about the Maharajah of Bhodpur attempting to buy the diamond from him after it had been sold. Maybe the old Maharajah still wants it. That would set things straight, wouldn't it? Until the Empress appeared in Steve's shovel and Barry owned everything fifty-fifty. That's the way I understand it. Sell the Empress, Monna, and hand Barry the cash. That would settle every thing!"

"Well, he'll have to, then. By the way, he must be on the home trip now." Lottie shuffled the pages of the voluminous letter. "It's dated two weeks ago. Maybe we can sight the Miranda off Granada!"

"If we get there."

"Any interesting letters, Monna?" The other girl shook her head.

"Here's one from Mr. Garretson consulting me about some charities to which, he says, John always contributed. That's amusing—asking me! I remember the time I asked him about various payments—"

"You have to sign the checks, don't you?" Lottie asked idly.

Monna nodded. "Oh yes, I sign them. Mr. Garretson simply puts me down on the lists for a certain amount. The payments aren't made for a long time—not until I'm home."

"Then you're thinking of going soon?" asked Lottie.

To her surprise, Monna's lips suddenly trembled. "I can't stay here very well now, can I?"

"No, I suppose not."

"It's interesting about Dr. Allen."

"Do you think he'd take it?"

"Who? The Maharajah?" Lottie's forehead crinkled. "He wanted it as a wedding gift for his last wife, Steve said. Well, maybe he can use it now for his next wife—"

"Don't be silly, Lottie. I mean Barry."

They met Bud later as they strolled down the stairway wearing bathing suits for a dip in the pool. Bud flung a package of letters to ward them.

"I picked those up at Queen's Park," he explained.

"Thanks a lot!"

"Well," observed Lottie a few moments later, "this is fine!" The girls sat on the edge of the pool, reading their mail. Lottie waved a thick sheet of blue sheets bearing a ship's emblem at the top. "This is from Dr. Allen! On the Miranda. He posted it at Port of Spain on the down trip. On the Miranda. South America. Awfully interested in those tropical diseases and says he plans to visit the snake farm in Sao Paulo. He's going to bring some serum back to those people we met from Martinique, Celeste's family. The old man was a doctor once—"

Monna said, as if to turn the subject. "He's a nice chap."

Bud could not take them today to Granada, he told them at breakfast, but possibly tomorrow. He would have to run over in a day or two for more workmen.

"Is the airport progressing?" Lottie asked.

"Yes. It would come faster though if Steve and Barry would pay attention to the work and let hunting go for a while."

"We're hunting in the high bush," announced Steve, who had just turned up for breakfast, bronzed as an Indian. He grinned at Barry.

"Can you girls ride?" Barry asked.

But Lottie declined the invitation for both of them. Monna, her eyes on her plate, said nothing. Barry would have time to plan and pack. Perhaps they could be ready to board the Miranda at Granada.

Monna wondered as she and Lottie mounted the stairs for the inevitable siesta, whether Lottie would mind the departure. Anyhow it was time to go. They should not have stayed this long.

Alone in her room, Monna considered. She and Lottie would have tea together since Barry and Steve would be sure to be late. Barry had said that there were waterfalls in the high bush. She would have liked to have seen them. They might have made the trip but Lottie did not ride. Well, they had enjoyed many weeks of Holiday! Now it was time to go home.

Carefully brushed and dressed, her bronze hair gleaming in even, meticulous waves, Monna descended to the terrace at the tea hour. To her surprise she found Lottie there before her, stretched out in a canvas chair, her feet, encased in soft sandals, propped on another chair in front of her.

When she saw Monna she relinquished the extra chair and stood up, yawning. "I had a swim. Lottie said, indicating the swimming suit beneath a soft silk wrap. "I stopped here for a minute to enjoy the view. Will you wait for your tea? I'll not be a second. We're alone, aren't we?"

"I suppose so. Miss Gracie said she sent the boys a thermos bottle and sandwiches."

"It's funny about this tea habit. Lottie went on. "It's catching. I don't think I'll be able to get along without it after I get home."

"My mother always had it every afternoon."

Sidelights In News In Capital Of United States

By HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington — The Supreme Court of the United States reconvenes on October 3rd—after a vacation period extending from the 15th of June.

It hardly has been a vacation for the Mr. Justices, however, despite the fact they have been scattered. The work goes on.

Chief Justice Hughes in Quebec at his summer retreat has worked about as hard as he would in his offices at the capitol. There's enough to keep the government's great law mill grinding all the time.

Huge mail sacks bulging with documents are shipped wherever the Mr. Justices may be for preliminary study. Business of the court would be long delayed were this not done.

Actually justices of the supreme court are among the hardest working men in the capital. When the court is in session a

MOUNT MORRIS SCHOOL MAY BE OPENED AGAIN

Paul Rader Organization Negotiating For College

Believed to have been doomed to extinction when its ninety-third class was graduated last June, Mount Morris college, one of the oldest educational institutions in the middle west, may be opened this fall as a center where needy young men and women may work for their education if plans of the Christian Couriers and Paul Rader, an evangelist, are realized.

Tentative arrangements for the purchase of the physical plant of Mount Morris college from the Church of the Brethren have been made. The name, Mount Morris college, would be retained. The college would not be exclusive for theological students.

The Church of the Brethren, which operated the college since 1876, merged the institution with Manchester college at North Manchester, Ind., last spring.

DAILY HEALTH

"It has been conservatively estimated, based on sales in this country, that but one out of four own a toothbrush. It is fair to assume that not more than one-half of the owners use them regularly, two times a day. And it is also a reasonable assumption that of this half, not more than one-third (a generous estimate) use their toothbrushes properly. No wonder the dentists have so much work to do!" states Dr. L. W. Neber, Supt. of the State Department of Health's dental department.

"The difficulty seems to arise in the idea that a toothbrush is essentially a beautifying rather than a cleansing instrument. As a matter of fact, like all other brushes, its primary function is to clean. And if it fails in its job, because of careless handling, the inevitable dirt remains, accumulating and develops conditions that are directly responsible for much of today's tooth trouble."

"Mouth washes, germicidal preparations and toothpastes as aids to mouth cleanliness are quite worthy, but well directed muscle play is after all equally essential. "Germs thriving on food particles lodged between and in the crevices of teeth have exceedingly clinging ways. They are not at all disturbed by a casual brushing of the exposed front surfaces of the teeth occupying the central portions of the upper and lower jaws."

"Literally, they must be dug and worked out. And this job to be successful, demands actual minutes of your time and a developed system of application—not to mention the daily use of dental floss."

"The main thing is to get the entire surface of every tooth in the head brushed. And in addition, to invade the spaces between the teeth as much as possible. Gums will not be properly massaged if this rule is disregarded."

"The next time you visit your dentist take along your toothbrush. Get him to teach you how to brush your teeth. It will likely save you many a dollar in dentist bills—only, however, if you daily follow his advice."

STITCH
As ordinarily used, the term stitch applies to sharp and sudden pain felt in the region of the groin, usually after severe muscular exercise.

It is more common when exercise is taken shortly after one has eaten.

The budding athlete not infrequently asks the question as to why he suffers a stitch in the side, and the wise athletic director and physician give him the best answers the science usually known to them.

Though stitch has been known to occur in athletes and in persons who indulge in heavy exercise since Biblical times, there is as yet no adequate explanation for this sudden and at times agonizing phenomenon.

It was long believed that the spleen had something to do with this pain, and in the professional runners of antiquity the spleen was occasionally removed as a measure for the prevention of a stitch.

But now it appears that there was no warrant for such an operation.

The spleen is located on the left side, and stitch may as frequently occur on the right side as on the left. Hence the spleen does not appear to have much to do with this pain.

The circulation of the blood was then blamed for stitch, but this theory, too, has been largely discredited.

Some light, however, has been shed upon the trouble by assiduous investigators.

It appears from recent experiments that the phenomenon of stitch is associated with that form of exercise which causes the jarring of the organs of the body, particularly the contents of the abdominal space.

Stitch would, according to this theory, be a reflex pain, due to strain upon the supporting tissues of the abdominal organs.

In other words, stitch comes when the abdominal organs are jarred downward. It is for this reason that stitch is more common in untrained athletes than in those who are hardened and who have acquired the art of moving rhythmically.

SHE'S BIRD'S DOCTOR

Doctoring birds is the profession that Miss Emilia Steinacher of New York City has adopted. She has a hospital in which she ministers to the needs of the avian patients, quite as though they were human. Birds have human diseases, she has learned. Pneumonia, gout and tumors are the most common ailments. Miss Steinacher is seen above, administering a dose of olive oil to one of the 100 patients now in her hospital. The group includes canaries, finches, parrots and parakeets. Hot-water bottles provide warmth for pneumonia cases, she explains. Gout is caused by rich living, which, in bird parlance, means too much sugar. In the lower picture she is bandaging a canary's broken leg, after having set it in splints.

GOOD THOUGHTS

In regard to the Great Book, I have only to say that it is the best gift God has given to man. All the good from the Saviour of the world is communicated to us through this book.

Abraham Lincoln.

Those things which are necessary to be known, believed, and observed for salvation, are so clearly propounded and opened in some place of Scripture or other, that not only the learned, but the unlearned, in a due use of the necessary means, may attain unto a sufficient understanding of them.

Translators of the King James Version of the Bible, Westminster, 1647.

The great ideas of the Bible protect themselves.

De Quincey.

It has been said that the Bible records the trials and struggles of mankind throughout the ages in its search for the living God. The Bible, however, would be of no more value today than would any other ancient history, were it not for the truth it reveals, the truth which has preserved it throughout all time.

Dead Wife's Letter Accuses Husband in Murder Case

To whom it may concern. I feel quite certain that some suspicions which I have entertained of late relative to the safety of my life are not without foundation. In addition to

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Moor are shown above together with a portion of the letter that his wife wrote.

By NEA Service

Like a voice from the grave, a letter written by his pretty young wife three months before he killed her has arisen to substantiate the confession of Hubert C. Moor, 30, high school teacher of Robinson, Ill., that he slew Mrs. Marjorie Moor because he was jealous of her education and attainments. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Wrentmore, will use the letter at his approaching trial in an effort to get the death penalty for him.

Mrs. Moor was killed while on an auto ride with her husband on the night of Aug. 14, Moor then claiming that the crime was committed by highwaymen. The letter, since discovered among her personal effects, was written on May 5.

TODAY IS THE WORLD WAR ANNIVERSARY

ALLIED ADVANCE SLACKENS

On September 9, 1918, the great German retreat from the positions won in their spring offensives was virtually complete and fighting was principally of a local nature, with only minor objectives.

British forces advanced on a four-mile front south of Havincourt Woods, taking positions which dominated the wood they had taken the previous day. On other sectors of the British front activity was confined to trench raids and minor gains.

An America advance which had been rapidly developing near St. Gobain was practically stopped by several German reserve divisions.

French troops reported minor gains across the Crozat canal.

The westbound Canadian liner Missanable was torpedoed in the mid-Atlantic.
